

Dear Madam or sir,

I am writing to express my support for net neutrality.

I would also ask you to either make it clear that you want to support businesses in taking extra payments for prioritized traffic or properly support net neutrality. Please don't act like consumers are stupid and don't understand that you are "supporting internet freedom" when really you are hurting small businesses that cannot afford to pay the same as established giant monopolistic companies.

With kind regards,

Marco Deppe
